Securing the Future

Sparta Security Services (SSS) specialises in high end security solutions to suit corporate organisations, private clients and government departments. The Managing Director is a former senior member of the UK Special Forces (SAS) and enforces the same strict ethos within SSS as he followed within the military. Our experience within the security industry is vast and we have been involved in global operations for over 20 years. We recruit direct from the military through our sister company The Next Step (Veterans Transition) and believe the balance between the skills gained through military service and robust commercial knowledge are unbeatable ingredients for success.

SSS will methodically assess, analyse and plan, allowing us to deliver bespoke solutions and provide the highest level of security consultation and risk mitigation.

Our professionals provide a sophisticated, discreet, and diligent service allowing clients to function within their professional and private entities with confidence.

The company is currently involved in high profile contracts including Close Protection, Surveillance, Residential Security and Events Management.

About Us

SSS is a local born and bred Hereford company with national contracts, and undertakes every shape, form and complexity of security operation. Our expertise allows us to design, implement and then maintain highly professional and effective manned security strategies.

We provide security services to many prestige companies and individuals throughout the UK and worldwide. For all situations, we are able to supply fully trained and licensed professionals who are also trained in health and safety, first aid, and conflict management. Their focus is to protect the individual, their businesses, property and possessions.

We work with our clients to design the most effective security programmes possible, tailored to their exact circumstances and requirements. We then apply sound management principles to maintain the highest levels of vigilance to ensure that all forms of risk are comprehensively mitigated. Our management team monitors every contract to ensure that the agreed standards are met and provide regular meetings in which to discuss any issues or concerns that may arise.

Our commitment is to maintain your privacy and confidentiality at all times, whilst providing you with the service you require.

Security Services and Close Protection

SSS is able to deploy either individuals or teams of highly experienced and discreet close protection officers for both short and longer-term assignments. We can also provide high quality man guarding services, ideal for high end shopping centres.

Our close protection team provides a confidential service to high profile VIPs from the media, music industry, sports personalities, politicians, and diplomats through to leading figures in business and industry.

Close protection operations are often of a sensitive nature, and due to the close working relationship required, we select the correct officer and/or team for the client. We work with the client to assess the threat and devise intelligence-led, cost effective strategies to ensure those threats do not materialise, all the time trying to preserve normality in our clients' lives. All our professionals act discreetly according to the cultural, political and religious environments in which they are required to work.

Surveillance

SSS provide turn-key solutions to aid corporate organisations, private clients, local authorities and the legal profession with their surveillance requirements. As with the physical security sector, surveillance is tightly regulated. SSS operates within the confines of Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000 (RIPA) and the Data Protection act 1998. All operators provided by SSS are specialists within their fields of expertise with proven operational experience in high stake situations, providing successful outcomes under the highest mental and physical stresses. Our operators are uniquely qualified to undertake any task and are exclusively drawn from UK special forces. We will match the operator to the client briefing, task environment and cultural trends of the location we are operating in.

Residential Security

With an increase of violent crimes such as robbery, racist intimidation, kidnap and terrorism, many individuals no longer feel safe in their own home, workplace or hotel. SSS can provide dedicated security professionals for the protection of clients and their families at any location throughout the UK and worldwide.

Events

We are able to provide fully trained security professionals for any size of event, and will be happy to work alongside you, or your event organisers to fully plan and cost your event to provide you with the security services you require.

SSS also provides:

- Annual General Meetings
- Investigation and surveillance
